Lathrop Declines Gleason's Offer to Go With White Sox

TRACTOR AGE WILL STICK HERE WHILE BASEBALL REMAINS

By FRANK SINCLAIR.

"Shilling Bill" Lathrop, pitching ace of the Janesville Tractors, has turned up an offer to join the White Sox in the American League in order to remain with the locals. After a series of negotiations extending over several weeks and a trip to Chicago, Lathrop has decided to remain in Janesville so long as there is semi-pro baseball here.

In taking this action, the popular ace is giving up a chance to return to the majors with the team with whom he played before his feet went bad a couple of years ago. He was offered $5,000 for the rest of the season if he would return.

"I'm for Janesville," said Lathrop with his typical good nature.

"The White Sox are going to stick with the old town so long as there is any baseball here. I went down to see Gleason and had a long talk with him and he made me a good offer. He offered me $5,000 a year and a trip to Chicago. But I made up my mind that if at any time this season Janesville should be by any chance give up the team, which of course I do not think they will, I would not go with them. I am for Janesville."

It is a well known fact that the Clean Hosiery is in a bad way for good reason. Gleason is up a tree and the branches are swinging wildly in the wind, threatening to snap off at any time. It has been a rare thing this season for a Chicago American pitcher to go a full game. The pitcher who has pitched in extremely anxious to get material.

The invitation to Lathrop is a tribute to his comeback. His record of 23 wins last year made the big league all star. He is a notable first it was Joe Cantillon, manager of the Minneapolis Millers, himself a Janesville man, who was after Lathrop. Then along came Gleason.

It ever a man deserves support, it is Lathrop for such a stand as he has taken. He is with Janesville tooth and nail. That is the fact.

There are others on the Tractors who have received overtures lately to take a jump to other climes. One of them is "Sugar" Breckenridge, a catcher of the Sox, and another "Brock," a shortstop who did not leave his efforts to land the Janesville centerfielder, declares Clinton S., until a figure is made for the manager. They all feel like Lathrop.

You can go on down the line with Shook, Holland, Schwinn, and the rest. They all have been deluged with offers to play in other climes. The Simpson play of Kenosha tried to land Lathrop. The Iron League wanted Lathrop. The Sox wanted Lathrop. While Lathrop has had them from a number of places.

That's the way other towns consider the material on the Janesville Tractors.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Tractors Divide With Speedy Quaker Outfit

Whitewater's diamond-Quakers, despite a series of punctures on the way, came into Janesville Saturday and departing Sunday afternoon left a trail of memory behind. They threw a big scare into the Tractors on Saturday losing, 4 to 3, on a ninth inning rally by the locals. On the Sabbath they rushed through Perring's machine for a 5 to 2 victory.

Monday afternoon Janesville takes on the Fort Sheridan soldier boys at the Fair grounds here at 3:45—note the time. Monday morning the doughboys clashed with the Tractors over at Evansville. Big Bill Lathrop does the twirling in the afternoon; Wooten worked in the morning hours.

WHO SAID QUAKERS?

Before the largest crowd of the season, totalling nearly 2,000, the Quakers shot their funny work over in the first frame Sunday. The Quakers, accounted for the lead throughout. While the game was an equal to that of Saturday, both being the best of the year to the entire season, the Quakers were only two earned runs in the entire afternoon's entertainment.

That first inning was a thriller. Errors by Crook and Holland, bingles which Whitewater's heavy hitters accounted for three runs. A wild throw and a fumble gave Janesville their two tallies.

Aside from the first stanza, Sunday's game was a twisting duel between Smithson and Kunz. Smithy allowing eight hits to his enemy's nine. Four of "Lefty's" came in the initial frame.

Get Breaks.

A base on balls by Smithson started the funny business. Chienma got it and in trying to steal second he would have been out had not Crook dropped the ball. Crook's error followed immediately shot "Lefty" as some wit in the stands called him—across the plate. Taylor singled, scoring Crook.

Two down in ninth when winning run was made.

Overcoming a three run lead, the Rails Sunday morning defeated the Bake-Rites, 11 to 8, in the city amateur league and retained the top position. The game was witnessed by a crowd of more than 75.

Difficulty was encountered in securing the tractor diamond, the ground-keeper refusing to permit the boys to play. Efforts by several of the spectators to use their influence failed despite offers by the players to roll down the top if their playing made it a little rough. The game was played out in the grass.

Several errors combined with many hits spelled doom for the Bakers. The first three men up were safe on errors and hits. Piro lifted a long double to right center cleaning the bags. In stretching it to a triple, Piro guided home the runner. Then three men up were safe on errors and hits. Piro lifted a long double to right center cleaning the bags. ## PREACHER TO AID IN RECONCILIATION

Rev. C. Wesley Boag Will be Asked to Help Patch Evans Case.

Milwaukee.—Mrs. Clara Z. Evans is the wife of Dr. Edward P. Evans, former South Milwaukee physician. Although the wife was granted a decree of divorce upon her counterclaim in the suit which occupied more than a week and in which both Mrs. Evans and the Rev. C. Wesley Boag of Delavan, pastor of the M. E. church there, were exonerated of charges of impropriety, Judge Gehrz on Saturday granted her plea to set aside the judgment and leave her the wife of the man who had brought the action against her.

In setting aside the decree and annulling the South Milwaukee physician, which was to have been the division not believe that Mrs. Evans had taken the step in vindictiveness but because she sincerely loved Dr. Evans who reiterated, however, that he did not conceive of any possible circumstances under which he would resume marital relations.

Temporarily support was awarded the wife.

"There is nothing that Mrs. Evans need be forgiven for and yet she has been the one that has held forth the hand," ruled the court.

Advice is Urged

"She is the one who has the major portion to forgive and forget. It is up to the two parties now to work out their salvation," the judge said.

The court also held that despite difficulties that had arisen the actions of both attorneys in the matter, Hugo Frost and William J. Riley, had been above reproach.

It was also suggested that the two parties be advised on the husband's side by his brother, the Rev. Richard Evans, and on the wife's side by the Rev. D. D. Kolstad and the Rev. Mr. Boag.

The Center White Sox went home with a three point victory over the Hawks, 4 to 1 Sunday. In seven innings only seven hits were gathered off the "Red Sox" by Eastern, pitcher for the Sox, worked a game by himself depending little upon his mates. Mickey McDermott got the only run on an error by White.

Roy Kruger pitched a double header for the Hawks, defeating the Wolves 14-2 in the morning and holding Center in the afternoon to nine hits. In the third inning, the Hawks put on a gas and the Sox gathered three runs.

Green Bay's city council has just authorized the purchase of Hagemeister park, a large private place for which the city will pay $50,000. It is to be used for a high school site in part, and the rest of the grounds added to the city parking system along the bay shore. Swamps and low ground of a few years ago have been either given to the city of Green Bay by generous and patriotic citizens or acquired by purchase until it has a splendid beginning for a large recreation grounds for the people.
That city too has a plan made by the same man who has given such a city plan to Janesville. The example of Green Bay can well be followed by us and we will get the same returns in municipal development.

A NEW DAY DAWNS IN THE SOUTH.
There has been a strange and startling change in the South on the negro question in the last few months. Aroused from the lethargy of "doing things as they have been done," by the murder of the 11 negroes on the William plantation, the southern people in official station, have determined that the disgrace of 40 years will no longer continue. Penitentiary sentences for the violators of the peonage act and the arrest of a white man, a former governor and for many years a minister of the gospel, has also brought the element back of the negro persecution to a sharp turn. The governor was indicted by a grand jury of white men, all citizens of Florida and they voted unanimously to have him apprehended and tried.

WISCONSIN IS 73 YEARS OF AGE.
The state of Wisconsin was 73 years of age Sunday. On that day in 1848, it ceased to be a territory and entered into the greater realm of sovereign statehood. It was almost two years after the establishment of the Janesville Gazette and Janesville at the time had a thousand people. Southern Wisconsin, from Milwaukee south and west to the Mississippi river was the most thickly settled, although there was even then a large number of people at the mouth of the Fox river and along its banks. No man can read the history of the state and see what it has done in the 73 years of its existence without a feeling of pride and a deeper patriotic love for "old" Wisconsin. In peace and in war, the record of the state is unsullied. One may surely take pride in his own state, no matter whether he still be a resident or has gone to other sections. The "Grand Old Badger State" will ever remain home to all of these people.

A NEW PERIL TO SWINDLERS
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN
New York City.—The state of New York is now after the scum of the fake stock promoter. By a new law, known as the Martin-Anti-fraud Act, recently signed by the Governor, the Attorney General of the state is authorized to investigate the activities of all persons or concerns suspected of foisting fraudulent securities upon the trusting public. Said suspicions proving correct, he is further authorized to make arrests and proceed with the prosecution of the offenders.
According to the latest estimate of the Federal Trade commission, $500,000,000 is taken from the American public every year in the sale of worthless stocks. Clearly, the public needs to be protected from its own imbecility, but there is also another important angle to be considered. This enormous sum, which is lost to the public, is also lost to legitimate business. It represents large numbers of small savings accounts hastily withdrawn from banks, as well as the waste of much capital that could be used to float legitimate enterprises. Swindling is becoming so successful that it is having a disastrous effect upon the business of reputable concerns.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
By R. K. MOUTON
Our neighboring planets turn out to be gabby old things. Scientists inform us that there is no doubt they have been sending us wireless messages of such importance, that they have juzzed our own little wireless communication all up, so that when a Bolshevik wireless from Russia, telling of the thirty-fourth excuse for not doing so, is intercepted, it is apt to be interrupted by a query from Venus for a quotation on Jack Rose cocktails.
Was it Uranus or Saturn that tried to get us the other evening to ask, "Who murdered Joe Ellard?"
A celebrated Italian inventor who has had much to do with the perfecting of the wireless, says he has heard several strange messages, and is now trying to trace them. He has done so on other days, and he is now in his radio waves in a language he could not understand and a code that was unknown. He will probably indignantly deny that it was a message from the supreme court, tried to explain a certain passage in the treaty to the Herzegovinian government.
At any rate, it appears that the earth is not going to enjoy its splendid isolation much longer. Splendid isolation seems to have done its duty of style. Everybody has to mix up in everybody else's business. We have no kick on that in this country. We started it during the past eight years, ourselves.

THOSE NEW MESSAGES FROM MARS.
There are a few pessimists here who believe that when the planets call up they should be told that we are out to lunch or in conference of fashionable fogies who refuse to take any stock in the thing at all, but the knockers are always with us. There are some people in this country who will refuse to believe in the existence of waves or fortune telling by cards, but they, happily, seem to be in the vast minority. They are the same back numbers who persist in believing that the majority rules.
When the communication is broken in another period of agonized expectancy. Our pride is at stake. We must decipher these messages and find out whether we are the superiors or whether we are the boons of the universe.
The thing may have a happy ending, however. It may be that the messages will turn out to be from the home-made wireless machine of some Norwegian inventor who is trying to sell a barrel of salt mackerel to some firm in Mesopotamia.

Prof. John J. Tigert of the University of Kentucky at Lexington, who has been appointed commissioner of education by President Harding to succeed Philander P. Claxton, has had a varied experience as educator. He has been a teacher in several colleges and in the A. B. F. University in France.
Prof. Tigert was born in Newbury, England, in 1882 and was educated at Vanderbilt University, Oxford, and the University of Minnesota. He was professor of philosophy at Central college, Alamosa, and later president of the Kentucky Wesleyan college at Winchester. In 1919 he went to the University of Kentucky, where he was first professor of philosophy and then of psychology, which chair he now occupies. During the war, before becoming a member of the army educational corps, the new commissioner of education served with the U. S. 183d and was awarded a Rhodes scholarship, having been the first Tennessee student to receive one.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
AUTOBIOGRAPHY
The trouble with a lot of those poor little under-size, pale, sickly, nervous, irritable kids is that they don't get enough sleep. It beats all how some parents and uncles and aunts and things seem to think a kid can be up half the night and still keep well and strong. There ought to be a heavy fine exacted from any grownup who keeps a kid under six days of age half of the so-called nervousness in young children is directly due to late hours and insufficient sleep.
The degree of cruelty involved in keeping a baby in arms up after sundown at night is about equivalent to sitting at a grownup's bedside and shooting mosquitoes every 10 minutes.
Kids grow chiefly while asleep. Give 'em time.
A tired mother is a cross one. Let the kids hit their right side, supper, and keep mother young, healthy and pretty so she can be pals with them when they are growing up.
The natural, healthful and most restful time to sleep is right after supper. Have dilute your stomach with good food. The time a kid passes in oblivion in the day is building time. Here is my schedule to date:
For a baby of six months: Constant soft-coma, rousing only occasionally, to cry a bit.
Next three weeks: Sleeping 21 hours out of every 24, waking only for diaper, discomfort or pain.
Up to age of six months: Sleeping 17 hours out of every 24, waking intervals being only half an hour to one hour, one-half hours long.
At age of one year: Sleeping 15 hours out of every 24, about 12 hours at night and two naps of 1 1/2 hours each in the day time.
At age of two years: Sleeping 11 hours daily. Naps forenoon and afternoon.
At age of four years: Sleeping 12 hours. One good nap each afternoon.
At age of six years: Sleeping 12 hours. Afternoon nap discontinued when I entered school.
I am now seven years old and still doing it. I believe it is the key. Father says we will make it 11 hours when I become nine years old, and 10 hours when I become 12 years old. Then it will remain until I am 16.

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on subjects of local interest. Questions must be brief, to the point, and address and enclosure two cents in stamps for return postage. If replies are sent direct to the editor.)
A.—The Bureau of Chemistry says that these bubbles are all carbon dioxide gas. It does not enter the water until it is heated. It enters twice in the same place A. E.
Q.—The Department of Agriculture says that lightning very often strikes people in nearly the same place. It has its zones, where its appearance may usually be counted on with each electrical storm.
Q.—To settle a bet, please state the width of Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, J. R. R.
A.—At its widest, from the capitol to the treasury, Pennsylvania avenue measures 101 1/2 feet from curb to curb. Beyond the treasury it widens to 121 feet and finally to 80 feet. There are places in the downtown section where the avenue is 180 feet from sidewalk to sidewalk.
Q.—What is the latitude and longitude of the center of population of the United States? C. I. T.
A.—The southeast corner of Owen County, Indiana, which is the center of population of the United States according to the 1920 census. It is in North Latitude 39 degrees 10' 21" and 86 degrees 43' 15" West Longitude.
Q.—What were considered the seven deadly sins? V. W.
A.—According to theologians, the seven deadly sins were: Pride, Covetousness, Lust, Wrath, Gluttony, Envy and Sloth.
Q.—Which states actually conceded to the Union, R. O. N.
A.—There were 11 Confederate states: South Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Texas, Virginia, Arkansas, Tennessee and North Carolina.
Q.—Is it true that chickens about to hatch are killed in the egg by thunder? C. B.
A.—The poultry division of the department of agriculture says there is no truth in this belief.
Q.—Can you tell me the value of property owned by railroad companies in the United States? C. S. D.
A.—The Interstate Commerce commission says that the approximate value of property owned by railroad companies in the United States on Dec. 31, 1919, was $15,000,000,000.
Q.—Why does the moon appear to be about the same size as the sun, when the latter is so much larger? R. B.
A.—The sun is about 400 times broader than the moon and also about 400 times farther away, so that the perspective of distance makes it look about the same size.
Q.—A friend says that Artemus Ward was second in command of the Continental Army during the Revolutionary war. Is this true?
A.—Artemus Ward was the pen name of the famous American humorist whose real name was Charles Farrar Browne. The man to whom your friend refers is Artemus Ward of Massachusetts, who was appointed first major general of the Continental army, being in a rank of Washington but ill health forced him to resign this position the next year, 1776.
Q.—I have taken out my second citizenship papers, and wish to visit my relatives in Germany. Will my papers be valid if I do this? M. T. W.
A.—This would depend upon the length of your visit, since the naturalization laws provide that when any naturalized citizen shall have resided for two years in the foreign state from which he came or for five years in any other foreign state, it shall be assumed that he has ceased to be an American citizen.

HOROSCOPE
The stars incline, but do not compel.
MONDAY, MAY 30, 1921
This is an unfortunate day, according to astrology. Mercury, Saturn, Mars, Venus and Uranus are all in malefic aspect. Jupiter alone is friendly. During this configuration the mind may be disturbed by conflicting emotions and impulses.
Jupiter seems to promise success and benefits for the clergy and this should be a favorable way for preaching since it inclines hearers to believe in religion.
This is a day in which to think and not to act. Plans are subject to the best possible rule of the stars, but they should not be committed to paper, since Mercury is strongly hostile.
Writings should be carefully gone over, lest they be misunderstood, for there is a sinister sign that indicates danger may lurk in letters.
Love misadventures are subject to a menacing government of the stars, which may encourage many a girl to misinterpret the most kindly message. Enhancements are easily broken under this way.
Mars is in a place that is not advantageous for domestic harmony, for the planet is in an aspect making for discontent and irritability.
Women should be exceedingly circumspect under this rule which may cause men to misunderstand their best motives.
Authors may experience a period of bad luck early in the autumn when publishers are hard to please.
Courageous today may bring only disappointment, for the stars foretell early disillusionment for women who will quickly detect slight faults (in their suitors).
Navigators will show a decrease in numbers at this time but there will be many mad romances in the coming summer, which will be marked by startling episodes.
Persons whose birthdate it is should pursue broken paths during the year. They will find changes rather unsatisfactory.
Children born on this day may be restless and fond of play. Many adventurous spirits are born under this sign.

CHINESE STAMP SALES FRIDAY

School Children to Make House-to-House Canvass — 30 Cents Is Quota.

Fridays of this week will be set aside for the city-wide sale of Chinese stamps. It was decided at a meeting of representatives of the Parent-Teachers' associations at the Chamber of Commerce.

A house to house canvass will be made on that day by pupils of the upper grades of the public and parochial schools. Each school has been assigned a district. The Chinese stamp sales sell for 30 cents each, this being the amount needed to keep a child alive one day in China.

The stamps are to be used on letters and packages similar to the plan of the Red Cross Christmas stamps.

Each adult will be asked to purchase at least one stamp. It is hoped many will buy the full $1 worth. In other cities many business houses, Rev. J. A. Melrose of the committee in charge says, are setting aside a day upon which every person that goes out to make a canvass will have a life-saving Chinese stamp on it.

Remember, next Friday is the day of the canvass," is the advice of the committee.

START ACTIONS TO COLLECT CASH FROM TEXAS LAND COMPANY

Proceedings have been taken by Attorneys C. E. Piorce and Henry P. Carpenter, who won the $50,000 judgment for Ernest Armstrong against the Texas Land Company, to collect the amount awarded by Judge George Grimm in his decision for Armstrong as plaintiff in the Texas Land case.

Examinations were held Friday before Court Commissioner Buckley, Whitewater, to determine the full assets of G. H. Krone, Whitewater real estate dealer, who is one of the defendants. Also the property of James Carlson, another agent defendant, has been examined and listed through proceedings under way. It is a part of the judgment a 155 acre farm in Walworth county has been sold. The attorneys for Armstrong declare that they will continue the judgments in full and with interest. Approximately $10,000 is expected to be obtained in actions against Krone and Carlson, agents for the company at the time Armstrong bought the farm and mortgages companies in Kansas City and in Texas to obtain cash to meet the amount awarded in the Rock county circuit court this spring.

LOCAL K. C. TEAM PUTS ON DEGREE AT WHITEWATER

A class of 60 candidates from Whitewater, Jefferson, Palmyra, Delavan, Milton Junction and other towns in the vicinity of Whitewater, were initiated in the second and third degrees of the Knights of Columbus at Whitewater, Sunday afternoon.

The second degree was conferred by the team from Janesville and the crack Walworth team gave the third degree work.

Those from Janesville who attended were: George Bennett, Thomas Daler, Daniel Rohrer, Fred Smith, Hubert Roy, J. P. King, Richard Dawson, Ward Donahue, John McCue, John Drew, Darrell Sullivan and Dean J. P. Ryan. The ceremonies were held in the armory.

Following the ritualistic work, a banquet was served to more than 125 at the Walworth hotel. Dean J. P. Ryan was toastmaster and speeches were made by Knights from the various lodges. George Hatch's orchestra, Janesville, furnished the music.

CHURCH WILL BE ENTIRELY REMODELED

Preliminary sketches for the remodeling of the interior of the Episcopal church in Janesville were on exhibition at the church Sunday night during the time of the regular evening service and were discussed by the members of the committee and the congregation.

Extensive remodeling is planned, it is stated, this summer to cover a period of two or three years, according to Mrs. M. S. Lovelace, chairman of the committee.

The work will be started when the redecoration of the interior of the building and a remodeling of the entrance.

The committee is made up of Horace Blackman, J. M. Whitehead, L. A. Marichani, Mrs. Frank Blackman, S. B. Baker, Mrs. M. S. Lovelace, J. P. Ryan, Frank Carpenter, Rockford, has been engaged to draw the plans.

LONE THIEF ROBS LOCAL WAREHOUSE

Two cartons of cigars and five boxes of cigars were stolen by a thief who broke into the warehouse of the Power City Jobbing company, South Franklin street, early Sunday. Tools stolen from construction workers on the Blackhawk at tenants were used to force an entrance through a window.

Efforts to head off the man in Rockford proved futile. From information gathered by local police, he boarded an early morning interurban at State street in Rockford without being seen by police there, although they had been notified. He sold one carton of cigars for 75 cents here before he left.

The warehouse was formerly occupied by Gund's brewery.

POLICE OVERSEAS MEN LEAD PARADE

Four overseas veterans of the police department will head the Memorial day parade this afternoon. They are: Officers James Ward, Con. O'Leary, Joseph Myers and Leo Lennartz.

Police have been instructed to keep cars from parking along Milwaukee street during the hours of the parade.

APPELEY, FORMER POLICE CHIEF, HURT

William Appeley, former chief of police here, now operating a fruit farm in the South, was cut about the face and head when he was struck through the windshield of a car while driving on the Janesville-Whitewater road about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. A Whitewater physician, driving the car, was forced off the road by a speeding motorist and the car plunged into a culvert.

High Ideals for Nation Not Personal Liberty, Should Govern--Melrose

A Memorial day address which thoughtfully defined the difference between the rights of a people and their responsibilities, was delivered by Rev. J. A. Melrose Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church, before a large audience which included members of the G. A. R., the Spanish War Veterans and the W. E. C. These invited guests, marching in a body, carrying their colors, the dozen members of the G. A. R. led by L. B. T. Winslow, the Spanish War Veterans headed by C. H. Cox, and the members of the Women's Relief Corps led by Mrs. Cora Dickinson.

Rev. Dr. Melrose took as his text the proverb, "There are those who value the people's right." Vision, he showed, is the foundation of the structure of civilization, and that all things deemed necessary for life and growth will be found if the people have the vision of life.

"The power of vision distinguishes man from animals," he said, "and when men lose the common vision they break up into warring groups, each with its own small point to win."

"Vision in Wars"

"The Declaration of Independence was a declaration of vision. The War of the Revolution was fought by sober serious men devoted to a vision," he said.

"Down through the Civil war which was fought for the vision of a government for the people, and through the Spanish war which broke the chains of provincialism and took the part of the distressed neighbor at our door," he said, "this same vision of service led the way."

He emphasized that this country went into the World war by vision of the world's needs. "But to carry on this great vision, of a free people and make true this ideal of a best country under the skies, it is necessary to realize the responsibility of each citizen to do his part," he said.

On Personal Liberty

"The question of the rights of individuals as expressed in the Declaration of Independence was a mischievous doctrine, brought from France during the time of the revolution and being the basis for the demands of socialism, the rights of capital, and of labor, of group against another, and of that society which brooded the claims of personal liberty as being paramount to any of the others. Against this idea of a person's rights should be set that of their responsibility, as having ideals in a common service, a common purpose and aim, and as citizens of a great republic," he said.

Tribute to Vets

In closing he expressed an eloquent tribute to those who had fought in all the nation's conflicts. The pulpit was decorated with roses and spring flowers and each veteran was a boutonniere of the same. Mrs. L. E. Connolly sang a solo and the quartet choir led by Miss Margaret McCutcheon sang.

Webster Music Case Was Settled Out of Court

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Booster—The suit over royalties on one of America's most cherished hymns "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," was settled out of court here on Thursday, and the Oliver Ditson company paid to the estate of Mrs. Josiah H. Webster $36,000. The news from Elkhorn as printed in the Gazette Friday was even ahead of Boston papers.

According to the bill as originally filed, Joseph Webster, the author of the hymn, signed a contract, with Lyon & Healy of Chicago, on June 9, 1885, by which Webster was to be given a royalty of three cents on each copy of the hymn sold. After the great Chicago fire, Lyon & Healy assigned to Oliver Ditson & Co. of Boston all interests of their publications.

The suit was heard before a master in 1908, who made a finding for the defendant. No court action was taken and the case has remained on the books ever since. Mrs. Webster was alive at the time of the hearing before the master, but has since died. Her son, Louis Webster, was in court yesterday.

The hymn was written in the early sixties by Joseph Webster and Dr. Samuel P. Bennett. Dr. Bennett wrote the verse and Mr. Webster composed the music on his violin. Mr. Webster was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1820 and came to Boston where he was twenty years old to study music under Dr. Lowell Mason.

A garage at Genoa Junction was entered Saturday and a Ford service truck, a typewriter, 10 tires and 2 spoons were stolen, according to word to the local police department.

P. O. ESTABLISHES INFORMATION BUREAU

Upon recommendation and at the wishes of President Harding, Postmaster W. J. Cunningham has advised Postmaster J. J. Cunningham and others throughout the country of the office of the Post Office in Washington, D. C., where competent information will be given Janesville people visiting Washington.

The great need for a bureau of information for visitors to Washington on official business who wish to be directed to the proper office, is being established.

When you appoint the Rock County Savings and Trust Company as your trustee or executor you are making connections that will be worth a good deal to you during the balance of your life. We have two banks here.

The Trust Company is a state institution, governed by Wisconsin laws and under the supervision of the State Banking Department at Madison.

The Rock County National Bank is under the same management but is governed by the banking laws of the Nation and is under the supervision of the National Banking Department at Washington.

BRITISH EAGER FOR COUNCIL TO MEET

Paris.—A note from Great Britain received Monday in reply to Premier Briand's recent communication with regard to the meeting of the allied supreme council, insists upon the desirability of a meeting of that body this week. Great Britain accepts the principle laid down by France of an examination of the Silesian question by a special mission of experts, but holds that the council should meet first and not delay its session until after the experts had reported, as France suggested.

TO ALMA MATER.

Capt. Jonah's Fortune

By JAMES A. COOPER
Copyright by Geo. Sully Co.

CHAP. I—Pearl of the Clothline WASHER GALLUP, who was a general handy man along the Shell road, came wheeling a barrow past "Lip-halet Truitt's" and the Mariner's chapel from the direction of Cardhaven proper and the docks. On the barrow was an iron-strapped seat, chest of a bright blue color and with tarred rope handles.

"Wal, cap'n, we're nigh to your anchor," Washy declared, setting down the barrow to spit on his hands.

"Yes, yes! I recognize the channel buoys. That's Orrin Petty's place on our weather bow, isn't it?"

The speaker, who closely followed Washy and the barrow, would have attracted attention anywhere. He was a solidly built man without being at all portly. He had windblown cheeks and a flame in his black eyes that belied his age. Although he walked with a cane and his hair and beard were gray, there was a brisk air about the man that at the very start seemed to reduce his actual age by half a score of years.

"Here we be, cap'n," observed Washy, turning into the lane that led to the house already identified.

There was a pleasant side yard into which the lane led, grassy with trees in the middle. There was a girl taking clothes from the lines in this yard and it was upon her the visitor's gaze became fixed.

She was of a slim figure, yet with prettily rounded limbs, as he could easily see with the fresh breeze blowing the scant clinging about her. Her arms were almost bare to her shoulders, displaying dimpled elbows and wrists. The short skirt became even shorter as she stood on tip-toes to reach a particularly obscure clothespin, and the turn of her leg and ankle was as trim as that of a yacht's spars.

"Where's your Uncle Orrin, Pearl?" asked Washy, dropping the handles of the wheelbarrow once more.

"He isn't my uncle," said the girl with emphasis. "He's my mother's step-brother's cousin-by-marriage. Orrin is my father's name. I have an Uncle relative in the world to go to, I'd leave her just as fast as I could travel. Washy Gallup—so there!"

"Polite!" Washy murmured. "What's dragged anchor an' gone to sea on this tide, I want to know? Where's Orrin?"

"He isn't at home, nor Miss Petty, nor Orrin. They've went to the county fair down to Harwich."

"I sum, And left you to home, did they?" ejaculated Washy, suddenly seeing a great light. "You say a situation was too much for Washy?"

"This here's Cap'n Jonah Hand, Miss Petty's uncle," he said. "He's come to visit a spell. Come up on the two-murphy from Chatham."

"My goodness! Comp'ny!" gasped Pearl, staring wide-eyed at the broad, smiling visitor. "And there isn't a thing baked in the house but doughnuts."

"Wal," observed Cap'n Jonah Hand, slowly, "I reckon I can turn on one foot, seein' I ain't set a tooth into one foot many a long year."

"You come right in, sir," said Pearl, recovering from her surprise and her natural Cape Cod hospitality asserting itself. "You give him a hand with his chest."

She tripped up the steps in advance and threw open the door of the guest room with a flourish.

"You can come right down, sir, when you've freshened up," the girl said. "I'll put the coffee pot over and you can sample the doughnuts."

Cap'n Jonah quickly made his toilet and found his basket full of the toilet and wash things he was coming in with the heaped clothes basket.

"You've got considerable of a haul there, ain't you?"

She set the basket down on one of the broad tables, panting and laughing. Her sunbonnet had fallen back, hanging by its strings tied under her chin.

In silence she received it, waited a moment for Mrs. Chisholm's final directions, and quickly left the room. All at once he seemed to realize that he had started her. "I saw you there," he stammered, speaking with a rapidity that made his words almost unintelligible. "I was taking the short cut through the hall on a few days' leave. I came to bring Chisholm back to his people. He has been ill—typhoid pneumonia."

Suddenly he broke off, took a step toward her, and stretched out both his arms.

"O Evelyn, Evelyn, Evelyn!" he cried.

For an instant's space, as if the years which had separated them still held her under their spell, she hesitated. Then, all at once, like a rose bursting into the bloom beneath a tropic sun, the past slipped from her, and she was the Evelyn of old, the Evelyn of his brief courtship, the Evelyn of his dreams.

As the swift reason rushed from her to brook her voice, crying, haunting, throbbing with all the wild, poetic emotion of other days, yet holding an added depth and sweetness, broke softly upon his ear, and she walked straight into his arms.

"Yes, Geoffrey, I am coming," she said.

The End.

CLAUSON TRIAL IS PUT OVER TO TUESDAY

Melvin Clauson's trial has been adjourned to Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock by consent of attorneys.

Owing to a circuit court case, W. H. Dougherty, appointed by the court to defend Clauson, was unable to be present for the trial set for Friday. Clauson is charged with the theft of a car from the Service garage.

MONROE SOLDIER FUNERAL, TUESDAY

Monroe.—A firing squad from the Glenn Zilmer post of the American Legion of this city will pay the last respects to a Monroe boy who was killed in the World War Tuesday afternoon when the funeral of Alonzo Drake will be held.

Drake was born in Green county and was 25 years old when he was killed at the battle of Soissons, July 13, 1918. He was attending college at Austin, Minn., when he left to enter the service, joining the marines. He was cited for bravery in action three times by the French government.

SCRIBNER SAYS WAR WAS TO SAVE WORLD FOR DEMOCRACY

"Memorial is a day in which we should remind ourselves of the part we took in the struggle of 1917 and 1918 and of other military periods," declared Rev. Mr. Frank J. Scribner, pastor of the First Congregational church during services Sunday morning.

"We know that the debt of honor and the debt of gratitude is not long lived. We are not proud of the treatment given to the veterans of the World War. Memorial Day should awaken the conscience of the nation."

During his sermon the pastor took exception to an editorial in the Gazette that declared that the United States entered the war to save these United States from tribute and commercial supremacy of Germany and allied Central Powers.

"The World War was one time that this nation put principle above lives and above money. It was a big common task to save the world for peace and democracy," stated the pastor, quoting parts of war time addresses of former President Wilson.

GRAIN SPECULATION CAUSES EXCESSIVE PRICE FLUCTUATION

(By Associated Press.)

Washington.—Speculative operations of a restricted number of traders in large quantities on the grain exchanges of the country are the chief cause of excessive price fluctuations, U. S. Smith, grain supervisor for the United States bureau of markets testified today before the senate agriculture committee at hearings on the Tiescher bill to regulate exchanges.

Improving of several streets in the first ward by scarifying and rolling is planned by Street Commissioner Thomas McKinnon next week. Wall streets here among those which it is planned to improve. The city engineer is among those which it is planned to work on next.

STRIKE LEAD ON FARM NEAR BENTON

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Darlington.—Prospectors have struck a lead of lead ore on the C. A. Smythe farm near Benton. At a depth of 40 feet they have an opening of 7 feet high and have drilled 145 feet from the shaft with a good showing of ore. Two men are taking on each day around 1,500 pounds of pure lead. This locality has always been rich in lead.

DARIEN

(By Gazette Correspondent.)

Darien.—Mrs. Clara Chamberlin and daughter, Maude, were Janesville shoppers Wednesday.—Mrs. F. A. Park spent Thursday in Delavan.—Mrs. Lydia Whitehead and two children, of Michigan and Walter Horder, Milwaukee, are visiting their mother, Mrs. Barbara Horder, who is ill.—The senior class play Tuesday and Wednesday was well attended.—Mrs. Miner is visiting her sister at River Falls.—Mrs. Elton Brown attended the funeral of Sam Hewes at Delavan Friday.—Mrs. John Dykeman, Beloit, visited her sister, Mrs. F. A. Park, between trains Thursday.

Dinner Stories

"Say," the angry citizen exclaimed as he stormed his way to the editor's desk in the newspaper office, "what you mean by putting me in the 'Deaths' column this morning?"

"Was it a mistake, sir?" the editor asked, timidly.

"Of course it was. Don't you see I'm alive? You've caused me a great deal of annoyance. What are you going to do about it?"

"It is a rule of this paper never to publish a correction," the editor told him, firmly. "But," he added, condescendingly, "we wish to please our readers, and we'll fix you up all right. We'll put you in the 'Births' column tomorrow."

"Bobby," said the teacher sternly, do you know that you have broken the eighth commandment by stealing James' apple?"

"Well," exclaimed Bobby, I thought I might as well break the eighth as to break the tenth and only covet it."

A young woman called at the post office, "Is this the classified letter place?" she asked.

When assured it was, she gave her name and asked if there was a letter for her.

"Business or love letter?" jokingly inquired the clerk.

"Business," was the hesitating reply, accompanied by a red blush. There was no letter. The young lady again blushed and then said in faltering tones: "Please, would you mind looking among the love letters?"

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XVIII—LOUISIANA

The discovery of Louisiana is due to the back to the beginning of the sixteenth century, when the Spanish explorers, Alvarez de Pineda and de Soto, sailed up the Mississippi. In 1682 La Salle descended the Mississippi and took possession of the entire valley in the name of the French king, Louis XIV. In his honor this region was named Louisiana. French colonies soon sprang up, including New Orleans, which was founded in 1718.

An interesting chapter of Louisiana was the formation of the Company of the West by a financial schemer named John Law. This company ostensibly was to exploit the new colony and held out to speculators an alluring get-rich-quick scheme.

In 1763 France ceded Louisiana east of the Mississippi to England, and the western territory went to Spain. Spanish rule proved unendurable to the inhabitants and the restrictions over the navigation of the Mississippi led to hostilities between the northern American settlements and Spain. This situation, however, was brought to a peaceful termination by Spain relinquishing her rights to this territory to France and the purchase in 1803 by the United States from France of the entire Louisiana territory.

The southern portion of this acquisition was organized as the territory of Orleans and in 1812 was admitted as the eighteenth state in the Union, with an area of 48,200 square miles. As the Louisiana coast of course lies on the Gulf, its capital state is often called the Pelican state.

EAT DOWN TOWN

DURING WARM WEATHER

TEMPTING DISHES For The SUMMER APPETITE

The BADGER always has on its menu those seasonable dishes that only summer can bring.

Eat at the Badger This Summer

THE BADGER CAFE

7 South Main Street.

The Coffe Shop — at the — Grand Hotel

THE COFFE SHOP is an exceptionally cool place to eat. A new ventilating system completely changes the air every three minutes.

We pride ourselves on the quickness of our service. Three minutes after your order is given, it is placed before you.

We are serving an especially good plate lunch from eleven until two at 60c the plate.

The Savoy

The Restaurant That Has
Built a Reputation and a
Business On Reputation

Under the capable ownership and management of Harry and Peter Pappas this restaurant has more than DOUBLED ITS BUSINESS during the past year.

First Class Food prepared by the best experienced chefs and served in a pleasing way has made steady customers of all the people who have tried one meal here.

This is a home-like Cafe and a delightful place to bring the family. You will find it economical, too.
